109 Ceremony To Mark NMH Expansion

By F. M. L.

Friend James Brock had a private showing of his most recent sculptures at the Temple home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rynearson Sunday evening.

Reception of his work among some 50 Temple art connoisseurs and artists was good. Comment was enthusiastic about James' sculptures of Indians on horse, a rodeo bull rider, a Texas Ranger and a few other works. The Herald has written considerable about his work during the past three years, which started with oil paintings of cowboys and range scenes.

James found his medium in Western sculpture and is having good reception wherever it is seen. He works in his studio on his place north of Cameron.

He works in petroleum wax, which, when sculpted, is taken to a bronze foundry in Taos, N. M., and cast. Some of his work is on display in Taos galleries. Taos, of course, is one of the major art meccas of the country.

His explanation of his background as a rodeo rider, horse trainer and professional cowboy aroused great interest. James' sense of humor, which is crystal-clear honesty in depth, was almost as popular as his work.

Setting for his rustic work was the Rynearsons' unique home of native stone, redwood and Mexican tile. It was at home there.

Loretta Brock, James' wife, radiated the pride his work justifies. We might say it was a good night for Western art and Cameron.

Wife Jan and I indeed are happy, as people from Cameron and Milam County should be, that James' work is receiving such audience.

If we may, we would make a prediction: the work of this Cameron artist - cowboy is headed for even wider acclaim.

James might never tell you that. But it is a good guess he hopes, like we hope, it reaches the potential his art promises.

And nicer people it couldn't happen to.

Milam Doctors Sponsor

'Measles Must Go' Clinic

October 27 is 'Measles Must Go' day in Milam County with immunization centers set up at Simon-George Hall in Cameron and American Legion Hall in Rockdale.

Milam County Medical Society is sponsoring the county-wide measles immunization program from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. They hope to immunize at least 2,600 children age one through 10.

The vaccine will be offered absolutely free, however the Medical Society is asking that persons who are able, make a 25-cent donation at the clinics Sunday to help defray costs of the program. Registration forms have been distributed through the schools over the county and parents are asked to fill one out and bring it to the vaccination clinic when they bring their children to be immunized.

The drive is part of a Texas-wide effort to eradicate measles in children. It is similar to the one that virtually eliminated polio here in 1962. At that time the polio vaccine was given on a sugar cube. The measles vaccine will be administered by a jet injector which painlessly implants the vaccine under the skin by pressure.

The Medical Society released the following questions and answers pertaining to the immunization program:

1. Who should receive measles vaccine?

Healthy children who have never had measles or who have not received measles vaccine. Free vaccine is being offered to all children ages one through ten years.

2. How is the vaccine administered?

By a jet injector.

3. How many doses are needed?

A single dose of attenuated measles vaccine will probably give lifelong immunity.

4. Who should not receive measles vaccine?

Children being treated for certain chronic diseases such as leukemia, cancer, or tuberculosis. There are a few other exceptions. If in doubt, consult your family doctor.

5. How safe is the measles vaccine?

Millions of doses have already been distributed in the United States without reports of serious complications.

6. Can children receiving the vaccine spread measles to other persons?

No.

7. If a parent is uncertain whether a child has had measles or measles vaccine before, should the child be vaccinated?

Yes. No harm is done by re-vaccinating a child who has already had measles or measles vaccine.

8. Is there penicillin in the vaccine?

No.

9. Who will administer vaccine to the children?

Vaccine will be administered only by competent personnel who are donating their services. Nurses and doctors will be present.

10. Must children be accompanied by adults when they go to the clinic?

Yes. All children must be accompanied by a parent, guardian, or other responsible adult over 21 years of age.

Shoplifting, Theft On Police Blotter

Cameron Police Officer Felipe Martinez arrested two Rosebud youths at Bills Dollar Store last week charging them with shoplifting. Police Chief John Shearin said they were later released to the Rosebud City Marshal where they were charged in ten burglaries.

Police were also investigating the theft of an auto battery. The battery was reported taken sometime Friday night from a car parking in the garage of the William Mueck home at 901 N. Central.

35 Attend UR Meet On Dn-Town

About 35 Cameron citizens at a town hall meeting Tuesday night at Methodist Fellowship Hall heard Urban Renewal Board members present details of the City's $341,111 renewal project in 24 blocks of Cameron's downtown.

Philip A. Kulbes, project manager for Cameron with Bernard Johnson Engineers, Inc., of Houston, met with the group and answered questions.

A new drawing of the central mall-parking area was displayed. City Council already has approved the proposal subject to final clearance by HUD in Washington.

Monroe Fuchs reviewed background of the project, and outlined costs.

Miss Mildred Thornton described landscaping plans for the mall-parking area. She said plans include a large, two-foot deep pool at one end of the mall, with a canopy area at the other. Trees and flowers will be of the easily-maintained variety.

Miss Thornton suggested the mall would be ideal for garden club exhibits, artists exhibits, and possibly, concerts.

A. W. McCullin, chairman of the board, explained the new drawing as "especially for laymen."

McCullin had just returned from a meeting of state Urban Renewal officials in Galveston and said one of the biggest problems told by community urban renewal officials there was that growing cities lose their downtown nucleus when a city's growth moves out to the highways.

Cameron's urban renewal plan seeks to avoid this loss.

Officials meeting at Galveston were told the Presidential election should not affect present government rehabilitation programs, McCullin said.

Board members explained other phases of the program, including appraisals, utilities, building code and finances.

Concern about relocation was expressed by questions from businessmen in the affected rehabilitation area. Board member James Camp said loans administered by Small Business Administration would be available for rehabilitating non-residential property. However, he stressed that each case must be considered separately.

Kulbes said Cameron's progress in the renewal project is good and on a level with several other cities.

About two more weeks are needed to wrap up Cameron's program plans, McCullin said, and they will be forwarded to Fort Worth for review and check, then on to Washington for final approval. He estimated the project could begin about January 1.

Urban Renewal Board members present were: Albert Hajovsky, Bill Burns, Porter Young, A. E. Matula, Fuchs, Camp, Miss Thornton, McCullin, and Don Humble, legal advisor.

Clocks Turn Back For Return To CST

Clocks will be turned back one hour at 2 a.m. Monday, October 28, as the nation returns to Standard Time. The time change brings a welcome additional hour of sleep for those who lost an hour when clocks were set ahead in April.

This was the second summer of Daylight Saving Time for Texas.

Cam - Tex Looks To Additional Payroll, Announcement Nov. 1

Charles Wickersham, manager of Cam-Tex, Inc., Cameron dress manufacturing concern, Wednesday said employment would go to about 80 and that an announcement of "importance and interest to the Cameron area" would be made November 1.

He told The Herald plant employment would probably go to about 80 in November.

Wickersham said the Cameron plant was looking forward to "important changes" which would be announced November 1. Cam-Tex, Inc. is a subsidiary of Sunmy Isle Manufacturing of Dallas.

Present plant employment is about 60 people.

A payroll of 80 would tax present, temporary facilities, he said.

Contact Work Underway On New Limits

Work on replacement of under-street water and sewerlines on Sixth Street is being completed and curbing on Seventh Street has begun.

This was part of reports noted by the City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night at City Hall.

Paving on Sixth, Seventh Streets and Wallace Blvd. will begin following completion of curbing and sub-street line work.

City Secretary Buddy Fuller said Councilman R. W. Wells reported contact work by a committee of three councilmen on possibilities of extending city limits north and northwest.

Fuller said maps of the areas were expected today before further contact work with people in the areas was resumed. The committee is composed of Wells, Lawrence Zetz and Lester Turner.

Fuller noted Council plans to open bids on the proposed water and sewerline extensions into North Cameron and North Cameron industrial sites. They will be opened in a meeting of the Council Tuesday.

Plans also call for three lift stations and one additional pump to maintain pressure, along the extensions.

The Council also approved purchase of 36 new "No Parking" signs like those used on West Fourth St. (SH 35) within the city limits. Secretary Fuller noted, as replacements.

Mayor E. A. Perrin, Housing Authority board member Henry Litzman, housing executive director Fred Starnes Wednesday morning met with the mayor and city manager or planner from Rosenberg.

The visiting officials also inquired into setting up a housing authority in Rosenberg and discussed Cameron's development of an urban renewal program, Fuller said.

Councilmen also authorized purchase of 15 cases of anti-freeze for city vehicles and a new police docket book.

Routine bills also were approved in the two-hour session, Fuller, said.

LaVert McKinney, committee chairman, said "the dinner is an excellent way to get to know the men who plan our highways and those who carry out the plans. It is also an opportunity to thank these men for the work they are doing to keep our roads in good condition."

Tickets are available for the barbecue at Citizens National Bank and First National Bank, the Chamber of Commerce office, or from McKinney, Edward Schiller, E. L. Weid, Joe Humplik, Henry Litzman, Jim Camp, Forrest Sapp, Herman Hanel, Porter Young, Rev. J. E. Lafferty and L. W. Stroup.

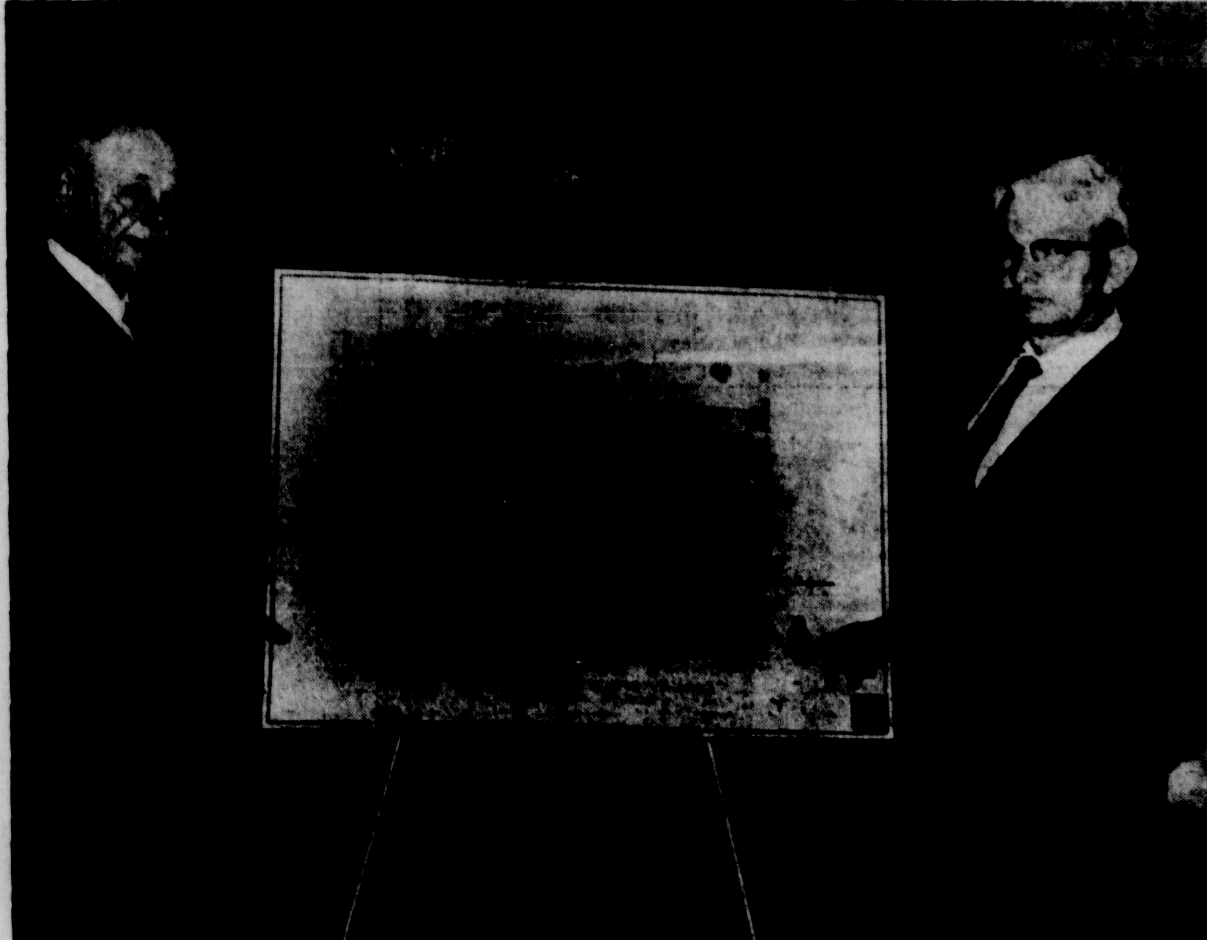

United Fund Nears Halfway Goal Mark

United Fund reached 41 percent of the $6,400 goal Wednesday with less than half of the downtown drive complete and only a portion of the house-to-house campaign reported.

Forrest Sapp, drive chairman, said CUF gifts from Cameron Public School teachers and from Alcoa employees living in Cameron were still to be reported. He urged workers to complete their contacts and make reports as soon as possible.

REPORT ASKED...

Robert Ellett, drive chairman for St. Edward Development Fund, has asked that fund solicitors report by noon Wednesday, October 30, on collections to that date.

NEW LOOK for downtown Cameron was described by Mayor E. A. Perrin and A. W. McCullin, Urban Renewal Board chairman, at a town hall meeting Tuesday night at Methodist Fellowship Hall. Landscaping plans include this mall-parking area with pool and canopy.

Exemption Sought For Public Warehouse Storage

(Exempting from ad valorem taxation certain property temporarily stored in a public warehouse.)

This proposed amendment adds a new Section 1-F to Article VIII to provide for exemption from ad valorem taxation of "merchandise, products, goods or wares in the temporary custody of a public warehouseman..." under certain conditions:

(1) The warehouseman must have no financial connection other than as bailee for hire with the owner, shipper, or consignee of the merchandise, products, goods, or wares.

(2) The property must have been shipped to or from the warehouse by regulated or bona fide private carrier.

(3) The property must not be held by the warehouseman longer than six months and shall have a predetermined out-of-state destination at point of origin.

Further, Amendment No. 13 stipulates that books and records relating to out-of-state shipments covered by the proposal shall be available for reasonable inspection by proper taxing authorities.

BACKGROUND

Under present Texas law, the assessment rate on stored goods ranges from $2.70 to $5.90 per $100 valuation, depending on how large the city or what political subdivision is the taxing authority. Presently exempted from assessment is out-of-state property consigned to an in-state consignee, but to be shipped out of state, if such property is not detained in the state for more than 90 days. The exemption also includes goods, wares and merchandise, whether or not moving on through rates, detained in the state for not more than nine months for assembly, manufacturing, storage, or processing for out-of-state shipment; unsold wool stored by ranchmen in federal warehouses and rice in the hands of the producers and stored in warehouses in the state. The assessment date of the tax is based on inventory as of January 1, each year (Article 7243, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

States bordering Texas on all sides have some sort of free port law, meaning, in most instances, that a manufacturer can ship goods to any of our border states, store the goods there and distribute the goods in small quantities (just that which absolutely has to be delivered) to the point of destination in Texas. By storing his goods in the border states, the manufacturer is able to "go around" Texas with the remainder of his goods to avoid paying ad valorem taxes now levied on stored goods in Texas. The proposed amendment would make it possible for Texas warehousemen to have a competitive tax advantage.

ARGUMENTS

FOR:

1. Over two-thirds of all the states, 34 states and the District of Columbia, have some form of free port tax legislation in their statutes. The 16 states (including Texas) without free ports are placed at a disadvantage competitively and are also limited in potential growth as distribution centers for major manufacturers and processors.

2. The practical effect of the present ad valorem tax law, which does not exempt certain property temporarily stored in public warehouses from assessment, is the collection of minimal revenues from this source because: (1) manufacturers and processors, particularly the larger ones and major companies from out of state, make a practice of moving their goods prior to the January 1 date of assessment; or (2) they move their goods instate by out-of-state carriers after January 1, and thereby avoid assessment.

3. The adoption of the proposed amendment would make it possible for Texas to attract a wealth of new dollars which are now going to states in a more competitive position because of the tax advantage they are able to offer warehousemen distributing interstate goods.

AGAINST:

1. The adoption of the proposed amendment would be another step in a long series of getting "around" the "equal and uniform" provisions of the Constitution as they relate to taxation.

2. It is impractical for the State of Texas to give up still another source of revenues, when there is already a great need for new revenue sources if Texas state government is to provide the benefits and services required by a rapidly growing population in an urbanized society.

3. By exempting a part of warehouse inventory from ad valorem taxes, as proposed by Amendment No. 13, the way would be clear for inaccurate renditions under the temptation to avoid taxation also on goods which could not be legitimately considered exempt.

OUTDOOR CARPETING

Introduced about a year ago in a limited assortment of solid colors outdoor carpeting today is available in colorful printed and embossed designs thanks to modern printing and dying processes.

Its variety of striking colors, handsome embossed and printed designs, texture variations and do-it-yourselfer's delight - carpet tiles, have made it extremely popular this year.

Carpet styles include needle-punched to produce a flat, felted texture that's easy to clean and easy to walk on; tufted with looped or cut and looped pile that resembles conventional indoor carpeting in texture; or tufted with a curly, grasslike pile of single filament yarns.

While green is a popular color for outdoor use, most manufacturer ers offer solids, tweeds and even printed styles in variations of blue, red, yellow, brown, and black.

Outdoor carpets are all made of man-made fibers and backing materials, including olefin, acrylic, nylon and polyester. Resistance to mildew, sunlight, moisture and harsh chemicals makes them ideal for patios, steps and porches, decks, poolside, and for work areas inside the home.

Installation can be quick and simple. Often outdoor carpets are cut to fit rather than installed. They may be taped or cemented in place for a more permanent installation. One manufacturer is promoting the carpet in 12 inch squares which can easily be installed by the home handyman. Tiles can be applied indoors over a floor surface, and can be used above, on, or below grade.

Certain conservation practices, encouraged by the Agricultural Conservation Program, not only help protect the land against erosion but they also improve the quality of the rural environment.

Such practices as fall seedings of cover, as well as various practices carried out by farmers at other times of the year, carpet with a blanket of green that would otherwise be bare land, improving the general appearance of the countryside.

Now, during the fall seeding period, is a good time to consider carefully the many benefits of soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation with a view to carrying out needed measures.

Protecting the land against erosion with grasses or legumes, terraces, sod waterways, or water improvement structures helps hold the soil in place for agricultural production, reduces flooding and sedimentation, provides wildlife habitat, and contributes to the general public also benefits from this upgrading of the environment.

Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing assistance is the major stimulus encouraging conservation work being done by most farmers.

In District 19-AA Opener

Yoemen Trample Hearne Eagles

The Cameron Yoemen brought Homecoming fans to their feet with a 14-0 victory over the Hearne Eagles Friday night in the District 19-AA opener.

Norman Trubee, goal line defender, blocked two Hearne punts to set up scores for the Yoemen and sophomore Ken McLerran carried the ball 22 times for 121 yards and one Yoeman touchdown.

A victory-hungry Yoe defense held off several offensive threats by Hearne. In the second half of play the tally sheet read minus one yard rushing and 27 yards passing for the Eagles.

Outstanding in the Yoeman defense were Trubee, middle guard John Mayer, linebacker Johnny Bailey, guard Ronnie Richardson, end Butch Bryan and linebacker John Urban.

Offensive standouts along with the 120-pound McLerran, were quarterback Robert Brashear, wingback Johnny Steamer, full-backs Dennis Crouch and Dale Schigut and tailback Bert Anderson.

A Yoeman kick turned sour for the Eagles as the Cameron line held for downs, forcing a punt and the Yoemen took over on their own 40 after less than 2 minutes in the first quarter.

McLerran carried to the 44 where on a second-play hand off from Brashear he broke over his left tackle and dashed 54 yards before being downed on the Hearne 2.

Fine blocking on the next play cleared the way for McLerran's second rush over his own left tackle for the TD.

An extra point attempt by McLerran was wide, and the Yoemen led 6-0 with 9:19 left in the first quarter.

Punt exchanges and lost yardage for Hearne placed the Eagles in a third down position on their own 12. Trubee came in at linebacker and broke through to block the punt.

Cameron recovered on the Hearne three and fullback Dale Schigut carried up the middle for the second Yoe TD.

A pass for extra points was incomplete and Cameron led 12-0 with 1:10 minutes still to be played in the first period.

In the second quarter the Eagles moved up the field from their 13 to the Cameron 14 on the passing of Hearne quarterback Mark Mathews. But the Yoemen defense kept the Eagles from scoring.

A third quarter drive by the Yoemen moved the ball from the Cameron 39 to the Hearne 30. McLerran carried 29 of the 31 yards.

Hearne took possession of the ball on their 33 in the final quarter. After an incomplete pass by Mathews, John Mayer broke through to throw the Hearne quarterback for a 21-yard loss. A third-play push by the Yoe defense left the Eagles at the 11 with a fourth and 39 situation.

Again Trubee blocked a Hearne punt out of the end zone for a safety and 14-0 lead for the Yoemen.

The 11-minute balance of play saw the Yoe defense holding the lead for their second '68 victory.

Trick Or Treat To Help Needy With UNICEF

Cameron children will lend a helping hand to other children around the world through UNICEF again this year. Youngsters will Trick or Treat for UNICEF from 5 to 6 p.m. Thursday, October 31, under the supervision of Church Women United and adult volunteer drivers.

Volunteers will meet at the Methodist Fellowship Hall at 5 p.m. Halloween night for official collection cartons and street assignments. Mrs. Charles Hensley, local drive chairman, said drivers and trick or treaters were still needed in order to cover the entire community.

UNICEF, which provides welfare services for needy children around the world, depends solely on voluntary contributions from governments and private sources. National committees for UNICEF in countries around the world sponsor private efforts of which the best known is probably the Trick or Treat project sponsored by the U.S. Committee for UNICEF and the sale of greeting cards, newspaper and calendars.

1969 Ford. Wider. Longer. Quieter. Roomier. (Easier to handle.)

These are the things to look for in a great road car. And every day more and more people are finding them in the 1969 Ford.

Wider. The '69 Ford hugs the road with as wide a track as Cadillac.

Longer. The '69 Ford smooths your ride with a longer wheelbase than Chevrolet. Yet it turns in a smaller circle than last year's Ford.

Roomier. We've grouped all the controls in front of the driver, made our front passenger compartment so spacious people are calling it the Front Room.

Quieter. Our '69 LTD is designed to ride even quieter than the LTD that rode quieter than Rolls-Royce.

Record first-month sales of the '69 Ford tell us we've got a good thing going. A test drive will tell you.

By Jane Callaway

Sorry that I did not get here last week. I caught a "cold bug" in West last Friday. My problem was that of forgetting to take a sweater. That game was worth it, wouldn't you say? Then came our homecoming game — I'd say the Yoemen have winning ways! If you can, be in Elgin Friday night. Our team will be there.

Congratulations to Senior Sharon Nigliazzo, our Homecoming Queen — and to the nominees from the other classes: Melissa Houston, freshman; Cynthia Krieg, sophomore; Becky Burnett, junior. We were glad to see all the Yoe High Exes.

Homecoming weekend is always filled with excitement. We had a good pep rally and bonfire on Thursday night—even if we did have to gather wood twice. There was an unscheduled bonfire on Wednesday night—and after all that work! One accident—sorry about your broken hand, Charm.

Janes, I like your new car.

If any of you didn't get your Yoeman Pennant, check with a member of the National Honor Society. They are selling them as a money raising project. Come on now—you can spare 75 cents for a good cause!

Danny, watch out for those bugs. Slumber (?) party at Regina Fleming's last Friday after the game. Now, girls, don't you know better than to do something like that? And, Rebecca, you do keep late hours.

The Spanish Club is planning a fiesta in November. We are working our brains for ideas and I'm sure Miss Amazon hopes we put in some overtime. Suggestions solicited!

Welcome to Mrs. Bodine, our new choral teacher!

Gina, I'd say you had a very successful Saturday night.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

SECONDHAND BARGAINS

Buy a secondhand lawn mower from the man next door and, generally speaking, you take your own chances. If it falls apart sooner than you expected, you would have small chance of getting your money back—at least, in a court of law.

For in the eyes of the law one ingredient of the typical secondhand purchase is the buyer's acceptance of extra risk. You pay less not only because there is less wear left in the article but also because you don't get the implied assurances that come along with something new.

However, even in a secondhand purchase, you still have a certain degree of protection. To begin with, you are entitled to know that the article is indeed secondhand. Consider this case: A music dealer put a used piano, nicely polished, on display among his new pianos—and an unsuspecting woman bought it. When she discovered the instrument was secondhand, she sued the dealer for deceiving her.

"I told her no lies," he protested in court. "She just failed to ask me whether the piano was new."

But the court ruled in the woman's favor. The judge said the dealer had an affirmative duty to clear up a misunderstanding for which he himself was to blame. Besides information that the merchandise is used, you are entitled also to a fair description of its identity. Thus: A man who bought a "1964 Ford," which turned out to be a 1963 Ford, won damages in court—despite the fact that he had bought the car "as is." The court decided that "as is" does not include "as isn't."

Where does the law draw the line between "new" and "used"? In one case an appliance dealer insisted that the TV set he had sold as "new" really was new, even though he had already reposessed it from an earlier purchaser. "It was new," he explained in court, "in the sense that it was this year's model."

But the court held the second sale invalid because, to the average customer, "new" means never-before-used.

In short, even in secondhand transactions the law fixes a basic standard of fair dealing. "Honest men need not fear it," said one judge; "dishonest men should fear it."

Soil Fertility Shortcourse Set

By J. D. Moore

The Soil Fertility Shortcourse will be held October 28, 29 and 30 in Rockdale, Thorndale and Cameron at 7:30 p.m. The program for the shortcourse is:

Oct. 28 at Rockdale State Bank - Importance of fertilizer, J. D. Moore; forage production and fertilization, Dr. J. Neal Pratt; potassium, magnesium and lime, Howard Mitchell.

Oct. 29 at Thorndale School Cafeteria - Nitrogen—sources, availability, response data and return, John Chapin; phosphorus—sources, availability, response data and return, C. B. Welch.

Oct. 30, Cameron District Courtroom - Soil tests and rates of nutrients, Dr. Carl Gray; time and methods of application, John Box; summary, J. D. Moore.

FALL SCREW WORM THREAT
Massive outbreaks of screwworm cases continued in 82 counties in Texas during September, pushing the month's confirmed cases to 1,538 during the 30-day reporting period from Sept. 21-23. The state's case count for 1968 reached the 3,691 mark as the month ended. This compares to a total of 835 cases during 1967.

"And the worst period is still ahead of us," says Dr. S. C. Gartman, veterinarian in charge of the Screwworm Eradication program based at Mission.

"Based on infestations of previous years, October has always had more outbreaks than September. Last year, as a result of ideal weather, cases zoomed in October to four times the number recorded the previous month. An early, severe cold front could change the picture but otherwise, the situation is expected to worsen during the next five to six weeks," the program director warns.

The September outbreaks in Texas were almost twice those for August.

PREVENTION
During the critical weeks of October and early November, all livestock owners are urged to use preventive practices in an effort to control outbreaks. All animals delayed until then. Additionally, farmers and ranchers are urged to observe their animals closely surgery that can be postponed until cold weather arrives should be planned to help reduce outbreaks.

and treat all wounds with a product recommended for that specific use.

Spraying of herds also is recommended to help reduce outbreaks.

When planting to move cattle to markets or feedlots, all animals should be checked carefully and wounded animals removed from the shipment. If infested wounds are found, a representative sample of all worms in the wound should be collected and sent to the Screw-worm Laboratory, P.O. Box 969, Mission, Tex. 78572, for identification. County agents have containers for sending in the samples.

BEF CATTLE SHORTCOURSE

The annual beef cattle shortcourse was held Oct. 14 and 15. At the Rockdale session George Weems, local registered Shorthorn breeder, presided. A film pointed out specific carcass characteristics showing how much more meat and less fat steers with the modern upstanding style have than do our old conventional short, blocky deep individuals. The modern type steer shown had 66 percent lean meat, 18 percent fat and 16 percent bone while our old conventional type had 48 percent lean meat with 34 percent fat and 18 percent bone.

Dr. Frank Oris, Extension meat specialist, pointed out that in the future animals will be sold not on weight basis alone, but on the percent of meat each animal will yield. The 18 percent increase in lean meat, which is not being achieved by the more upstanding long-bodied type cattle, will increase the price per unit received by animals sold. Dr. Oris pointed out that as fat thickness is increased by 2 of an inch the amount of red meat is decreased by 2 percent.

At the second session held in Thorndale, Fred Schuetze, assistant county agent presided. James Denton, Extension marketing specialist presented the first part of the program on the economics of cattle production. Denton pointed out that with an 85 percent calf crop and unimproved pasture the cost of producing a calf is $97.64. On improved pasture with a 95 percent calf crop, the cost per calf is $127.

If producers are to remain in business they must increase weaning weights, increase cullability, increase calving percentage, and increase and intensify management practices.

Dr. R. M. Titsworth, local veterinarian, presented the second part of the program and discussed these current local health problems: screwworms, fever ticks, anaplasmosis and leptospirosis. Dr. Titsworth pointed out the increasing importance of a good disease program.

FHA Credit Aids 66 Farm Families

During fiscal 1968, 66 Milam County farm families availed themselves of Farmers Home Administration operating and emergency loan type credit, Henry N. Ivey, county supervisor said today.

Ivey said that $410,250 was advanced during the 12 months ending June 30, for such expenses as new machinery and equipment, livestock, fertilizer, feed, seed, pasture improvement, and fencing. Operating loan funds were also used to refinance debts and pay family living expenses and the emergency credit met the needs of farmers suffering from a natural disaster such as hail, flood, or drought.

This type of credit, Ivey said, "has enabled many small farm operators to stay on the land."

As the fiscal year ended, farm families that included nearly 400,000 people nationwide were benefiting from the program which serves family farmers who can find no other source of necessary operating loan credit.

Loans are made through county offices of the FHA serving all rural areas of the United States. All loans are accompanied by technical assistance in farm and financial management. The local FHA county office is located at 109 West 2nd St., in Cameron.

In addition to operating and emergency loans, FHA makes loans to purchase and develop farms, to develop community water supply systems, and to obtain housing in rural areas, including housing for farm laborers and senior citizens.

ROOT ROT CONTROL
Lee and Bill Roessler of the Oenaville community in Bell Co. know that deep plowing is an aid for controlling cotton root rot. They broke land to a depth of 12 inches in October 1967. This year the deep plowed area, with only a trace of dead cotton, produced 315 pounds of lint per acre while a check plot produced 189 pounds per acre and contained about 75 percent dead cotton.

The Williamson County Crops Committee has their plans for 1969 about ready to go. Losses of $15 per bale or more on the current cotton harvest were reason for the early plans. You Don't Say

She is one of those women who BELIEVES in being prompt!

When you use the "one of" form in a sentence, the relative pronoun and its verb are always plural.

Examples:
She is "one of" those WOMEN who BELIEVE in being prompt.
It is "one of" those APPLES which ARE juicy.

He is "one of" those MEN who DEFY regimentation.

What Others Say ...

A Formula . . .

The search for "identity," for a definition of the student's proper role in campus affairs has become a big part of college life for many student activists.

Like many other current social challenges, this confusion over the student's rightful place on campus has escalated into a major topic for formal seminars, conferences and institutes. At one such gathering recently, the problem of defining the proper order of things in the academic community was summed up by Dr. Arthur Turner, a political science professor at the University of California's Riverside campus. In his talk at the San Diego College Institute on World Affairs, Dr. Turner said: "I believe that professors are there to teach, administrators are there to administer and students are there to learn."

At the risk of offending the sophisticated liberal community with a simple solution to a complex problem, our reaction to Dr. Turner's formula is a hearty "Eureka!"

In nineteen short words, Dr. Turner has put the problem of the campus pecking order in its proper perspective.

A student or faculty militant who disagrees with that interpretation of his primary campus function should be gently informed that he has flunked out.
Oakland (Calif.) Tribune

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

There are too many things to think about in this world and it's getting worse all the time.

For example, I woke up this morning and the first thing I read in today's newspaper was a headline: Trouble Breaks Out In Panama.

Now up to then I hadn't given a moment's thought to Panama, outside of knowing there's a canal down there, being occupied with the Presidential election, state and local elections, the Supreme Court, Viet Nam, Paris peace talks, Czechoslovakia, the Israel - Jordan problem for October, Biafra, the astronauts, law and order, a weak battery and winter coming on, high hospital costs in case I get sick, football, in-laws, etc. although these aren't necessarily listed in the order of importance. There are some global problems that can't hold a candle to some in-laws.

The point is, with all the domestic and national problems a man has to deal with, it's unfair to load him down with constantly changing international problems, and once more I call on the world to establish an International Trouble Spot.

Just pick out one place, stock it with reporters and television cameras, and let all the crises occur there. This practice of letting trouble break out helter-skelter around the world, lots of time in countries I never heard of before, is worse than having four different telephone systems in one town. It's gotten so a newspaper can keep one headline set up in type reading: Trouble Breaks Out In _____, and all it has to do is fill in the blank from day to day.

If a man's going to have time to take care of his own business we've got to simplify. We need one country for crises, one university for riots, one city for crime, so a man could go to sleep with not over three major problems on his mind outside of the hundreds of minor ones he has to fend off in his own neck of the woods.

Here comes a neighbor now probably fixing to tell me my cows are out again.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

GOP Challengers Spark Flurry In Demo Camp

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

At least half a dozen Democratic nominees for statewide office are weathering an unusually sharp attack from Republican challengers this year.

In a final flurry before the November 5 general election, the attacks will be stepped up.

Taking no chances, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Preston Smith, Ben Barnes, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin have returned to full-time campaign status.

Their Republican challengers are Paul Eggers, Douglas DeCluit and Sproesser Wynn.

Republican Manny Sanchez of Brownsville also has campaigned actively for state treasurer against veteran incumbent Jesse James, veteran incumbent Jesse James, GOPer E. H. Schuhart of Dalhart is running hard for agriculture commissioner against John White and Millard Neptune of New Ulm is running a serious race to beat Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Other statewide Republican candidates, who have campaigned less vigorously, are John Bennett and Jim Segrest of San Antonio, nominees for state comptroller and railroad commissioner respectively. GOP campaign headquarters claims Bennett as a member of its "action team" but doesn't mention Segrest.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Railroad Commissioner Jim C. Langdon, James and White show no sign of concern.

Polls have indicated the statewide Democrats leading, but battle wise veterans who face hard-charging opponents can't be sure how many Richard Nixon supporters will decide to vote a straight Republican ticket in indignant zeal for a "change."

GROUP SEEKS MORE MONEY

In their Association meeting here county judges and commissioners voted to ask the Legislature to give them more money for county business, and in several ways.

First, they endorsed Constitutional Amendment No. 7 on the November 5 ballot. It would take the state out of the property tax field a little at a time between now and 1976. County officers want authority to levy this tax for county purposes as fast as the state abandons it.

A bigger share of automobile license plate fees also is sought. Where a county gets the first $50,000 in license plate fees, and half of the next $25,000, they would like for the Legislature to allow them to share with the state up to a total of $1 million a year, instead of $175,000.

Other resolutions called for the state to participate by getting federal aid for crime prevention programs, to make the law clear that local units of government are exempt from the state sales tax law, and to revise the law so delinquent tax suits for less than $25 can be filed.

Judges and commissioners opposed the proposal that they be given zoning powers like cities have. This legislation will be proposed to the next Legislature so as to make rural areas eligible for Federal flood insurance under a new program. Without zoning or building controls, flood insurance will not be available.

County Judge W. D. Henson of Dallam County was elected president of the association. Judge Kenneth Douglas of Navarro County is vice president and Harris County Commissioner E. A. Lyons is secretary-treasurer.

LAND SALES SET

A big sale of forfeited veterans land tracts is scheduled for November 19. A list of tracts and their locations is available from the Veterans Land Board here, which will receive bids until the day of the sale.

Some tracts are available only to eligible veterans at five and a half percent interest. Non-veterans are free to bid on most of the property, however, although they will have to pay six and a half percent interest if they are successful purchasers.

ENROLLMENTS BOOM

Preliminary figures show there are 374,418 students enrolled in Texas higher education facilities day.

This represents a gain of 28,515, or 8.24 percent, over the 1967 fall enrollment of 345,903. Figure varies less than one half of percent from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System staff projection.

Public senior colleges have 212,035 students, public junior colleges 87,581, private senior colleges 61,819, private junior colleges 9,687 and medical and dental units 3,111.

FOURTEEN VOTES

Campaigning is becoming a bit heated on the 14 proposals to amend the constitution on which Texans will vote November 5.

Texas Municipal League and the Texas Water Development Board have come out against Amendment No. 12. This would allow cities, counties and navigation districts to issue bonds to finance buildings and equipment for manufacturers.

Both groups of public officials fear that huge industrial bond issues will drain off investment money needed by the cities and the water agency from their own bond issues.

On the other hand, the proposal is being supported by regional chambers of commerce and others. They say 44 states have such plans to attract industry, and Texas needs it, too.

Texas State Teachers Association, Texas Association of Classroom Teachers and Texas Association of College Teachers all have come out for Amendment No. 9.

It would enable public teachers to put six percent of their full salary into the retirement fund. Limit now is six percent of $8,400 a year.

Texas Public Employees Association came out for Amendment No. 1, to raise the retirement "deduction" from five to six percent, and to allow investment in corporation stocks of the trust fund built up for their retirement.

Texas A&M and the University of Texas may not agree on Thanksgiving Day football matters. But they are agreed on supporting Amendment No. 3. It would allow the investment of the University of Texas Permanent Fund in a higher percentage of corporation stocks, on the theory that the fund will make more money this way.

Amendment No. 5 would raise the pay of legislators from $400 to $700, and it is being supported by legislators and others who think it's become a full-time job.

Amendment No. 2's being supported by older Texans. It would raise by $15 million a year the amount the state can spend on old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and disabled, and to dependent children.

NEW JOB

When Gov. John Connally's term expires in January, he will move to Houston to join one of the state's biggest law firms. He will become a senior partner in the firm which will then be known as Vinson, Elkins, Searls and Connally. It represents a huge list of major business firms.

Connally said he hopes to get in a little Canadian or Pacific Northwest hunting before reporting for his new duties in Houston. He disclaimed any plans to re-enter politics.

RIOT INSURANCE CLEARED

State Board of Insurance has set in operation a plan under which policywriters in Texas can come under federal reinsurance in event of excessive losses from riots. Reinsurance is financed by premiums paid to the government by insurance concerns.

Board also named a governing committee to administer the plan. It includes James F. Devereaux, John W. Lenehan, Joe Dorsett, O. A. Edgeworth and F. F. Wasko of Dallas, Raymond Mauk of Houston, and Oran F. Needham of Fort Worth.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Attorney General Martin declined to give unconditional advance approval to Secretary of State Roy Barrera's directives for counting confused and unclear election ballots. Each election judge must make his own determination of the intent of the voter in marking his ballot by either "scratch" or "X" method, Martin said.

Other recent opinions concluded that:

—Department of Public Safety cannot pay for its current appropriations court costs assessed against the state by Val Verde county clerk.

—Only in absence of U. S. recognition of a country's sovereign immunity can a constable serve criminal or civil process on its ships. Sheriffs and constables cannot serve such papers on a US naval vessel, but can serve them in an enclosed commercial plant.

—There is no conflict of law in requirements of physical examinations before issuance of marriage licenses by county clerks.

—Comptroller may deny applications for cigarette distributor's permit on grounds of personal fitness.

—Treasury can pay out money to satisfy a corrected judgment if the money received through it has not yet been deposited. A legislative appropriation would be necessary to make payment from treasury deposits.

House Ag Committee Asks Farmers Help With Questionnaire

Farmers and ranchers in North, East and Central Texas are urged to complete crop production questionnaires that many will receive soon from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, House Speaker Ben Barnes reported.

Barnes said the survey is an outgrowth of the House Interim Committee on Agriculture formed last year.

The information received will be the basis for official crop production estimates for the State of Texas and each county.

Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers planning production and marketing, in farm programs and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture, Barnes said.

The survey is a joint endeavor of the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Statistical Reporting Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. The questionnaires are to be returned to the Agricultural Statistician's office in Austin.

'69 Impala Custom Coupe

Just sitting there, this '69 Chevrolet can do four things competitive cars can't:

It can wash its headlights.
It can apply liquid tire chain to its rear wheels.

It can silently defog or defrost the rear window.

It can keep you cool or warm automatically with Comforton — the self-adjusting air-conditioning system.

And once you've added all these wonderful devices to a new Chevrolet, you just can't imagine why anyone would give a second thought to a second-place car.

The headlight washers and liquid tire chain for traction on slippery roads are operated at the touch of a button from the driver's seat. So is the silent new rear-window defroster. Invisible ceramic strips on the glass heat up to keep the window clear.

Also available: Chevrolet's Light Monitoring System that lets you know from inside if all your outside lights are working, full four-speaker stereo, a smooth 3-speed Turbo Hydra-matic transmission. All in a car made quieter, made stronger, made more comfortable. Now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again.

Match this, you other '69s!
Putting you first, keeps us first.
